PROJECTS

(For more details visit GitHub)

- Is there a global warming and what's the affect on food supply?

- This is a school project that I used machine learning techniques by python in Jupyter notebook. All the datasets and presentation are included in this folder.

- Sample Website for Pamiran Industries. 2020

- This is an individual project: This is my own company website that I used HTML5 and CSS and JavaScript to implement this website.

- Hot Dog App 2020

- This is a team project for school: In this web application we worked on backend and frontend. In this app the user can be the seller or the customer, and accordingly the app functionality will be varied. The customer can see the location of each seller by using Google map API, and the seller is able to change the database for modifying the items status. These changes will be available to the customers.

- Pamiran mobile Application 2020

- This is an individual project: This is an Android mobile application that I used Java to implement this application. (For more details click here to see the app in Google Play)

- Pamiran Industries Desktop Application 2019

- This is an individual project: A simple platform that calculates price of goods according to COGS (cost of goods sold) and entered data by client and save a simple txt file as a reference. I used python for developing this app.

- Accounting Platform by Excel (VBA). 2018

- This is an individual project: A simple accounting platform to collect customers information and keep track of their balance to provide balance sheet and other related financial statements such as income statement and cash flow statement.
